

DISCOVERING PATTERNS OF USERS' BEHAVIOUR IN AN E-SHOP - Łapczyński M. and Białowas S. (2013)

Background

- e-commerce business generate voluminous transactions
- to analyze purchases and identify patterns of consumers behaviour
- to enhance Sales strategies by attracting new visitors, identify profitable products and attributes

Data collection

- Data mining of click streams from log files
- Online shop for maternity wear for Spring and Summer collection
- Primary market Poland, Europe
- Period Apr to Aug 2008

Data Wrangling

- Dataset source CSV and unformatted text files
- Cleaning and formatting in Power Query
- Load to Power BI
- Relationship Model

Visualization and Presentation

- Power BI

DISCOVERING PATTERNS OF USERS' BEHAVIOUR IN AN E-SHOP - Łapczyński M. and Białowas S. (2013)

Total Sessions	Total Clicks
24.03K	165.47K

Total no. of regions	Total no. of Countries
4	47

Total no. of Products	Total no. of Colours
4	14

Total by Product Category
Category_desc	Selected	No of Sessions	Amount
⊕ blouses		38577	1554334
⊕ sale		38747	1403951
⊕ skirts		38408	1966199
⊕ trousers		49742	2323692
Total		165474	7248176

DISCOVERING PATTERNS OF USERS' BEHAVIOUR IN AN E-SHOP - Łapczyński M. and Białowas S. (2013)

Most popular Model

Select Price Above Average Price

Response ● Yes ● No

Region

Select all EU Non-EU Others Poland

Product

Select all blouses sale skirts trousers

Date

1/4/2008 13/8/2008

No of Sessions

10.72K

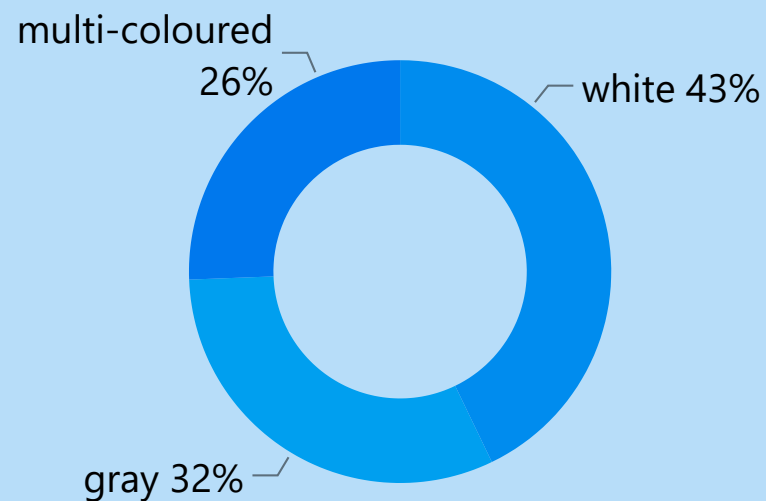

No of Colours

11

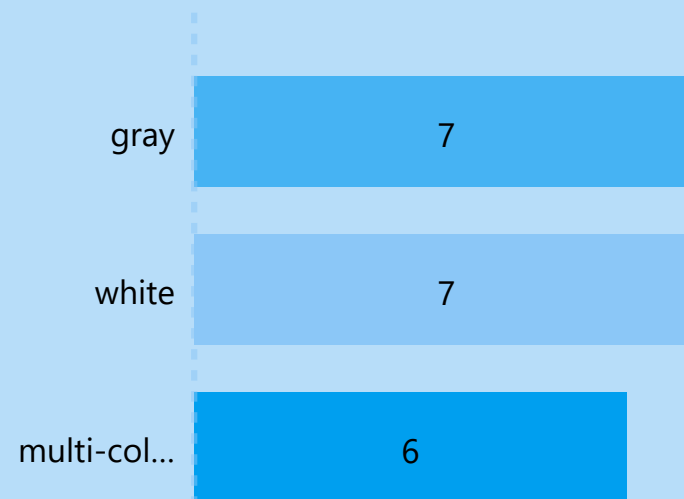

No of Models

59

Most popular colour

Median clicks

Sales

